Territorial Rights Tamar

Meisels 2007-09-20

Liberal defences of nationalism have become prevalent since the mid-1980's. Curiously, they have largely neglected the fact that nationalism is primarily about land. Should liberals throw up their hands in despair when confronting conflicting claims stemming from incommensurable national narratives and holy texts?

Should they dismiss conflicting demands that stem solely from particular cultures, religions and mythologies in favour of a supposedly neutral set of guidelines? Does history matter? Should ancient injustices interest us today? Should we care who reached the territory first and who were its prior inhabitants? Should principles of utility play a part in resolving territorial disputes? Was John Locke right to argue that the utilisation of land counts in favour of its acquisition? And should Western style settlement projects work in favour or against a nation's territorial demands? When and how should principles of equality and equal distribution come into play? Territorial Rights examines the generic types of territorial claims customarily put forward by national groups as justification for their territorial demands, within the framework of what has come to be known as 'liberal nationalism'. The final outcome is a multifarious theory on the ethics of territorial boundaries that supplies a workable set of guidelines for evaluating territorial disputes from a liberal-national perspective, and offers a common ground for discussion (including disagreement) and for the mediation of claims.

Criminal Injustice Robynne

Neugebauer 2000-01-01 This volume examines racism within the process of criminal justice.

In every society criminal justice plays a key role establishing social control and maintaining the hegemony of the dominant economic classes. The contributors to this anthology argue that the differential treatment of people of colour and First Nations peoples is due to systemic racism within all levels of the criminal justice system, which serves these dominant classes. Ideological and cultural changes are preconditions for the success of anti-racist policies and practices within the criminal justice system and within other state institutions.

Recommendations for transformations in justice policy and practice are provided.

Contents of Contracts and Unfair Terms Mindy Chen-Wishart 2020 Studies in the Contract Laws of Asia provides an authoritative and current introduction to the contract laws of major Asian jurisdictions, and includes a bibliography of literature in the English language. The series will identify and discuss the current controversies and debates amongst the stakeholders of the subject jurisdictions, the likely direction of travel on these issues, as well as the values and policies which shape the development of the law in these areas. Furthermore, it will examine how European-sourced laws have acquired unique characteristics in the transplanted jurisdictions, and compare these with the emerging shape of European contract law and other international instruments. Each volume in the series will offer an insider's perspective into specific areas of contract law: remedies, formation, parties, contents, vitiating factors, change of circumstances, illegality, and public policy. It will explore how these diverse jurisdictions address common problems encountered in contractual disputes, and will offer a comparative assessment, horizontally as between the Asian jurisdictions, and vertically with source jurisdictions and international codes.
