Fundamentals of Radar Signal Processing, Second Edition Mark A. Richards 2013-12-02
The most complete, current guide to the signal processing techniques essential to advanced radar systems Fully updated and expanded, Fundamentals of Radar Signal Processing, Second Edition, offers comprehensive coverage of the basic digital signal processing techniques and technologies on which virtually all modern radar systems rely, including target and interference models, matched filtering, waveform design, Doppler processing, threshold detection, and measurement accuracy. The methods and interpretations of linear systems, filtering, sampling, and Fourier analysis are used throughout to provide a unified tutorial approach. End-of-chapter problems reinforce the material covered. Developed over many years of academic and professional education, this authoritative resource is ideal for graduate students as well as practicing engineers. Fundamentals of Radar Signal Processing,

Second Edition, covers: Introduction to radar systems Signal models Pulsed radar data acquisition Radar waveforms Doppler processing Detection fundamentals Measurements and tracking Introduction to synthetic aperture imaging Introduction to beamforming and space-time adaptive processing

Current Document Handling Procedures at Defense Technical Information Center 1985 The Defense Technical Information Center (DTIC) is responsible for the collection control, and dissemination of scientific and technical information for the Defense community. Thousands of technical reports enter DTIC each year, and thousands of reproductions are distributed to DTIC's users. The processing of these reports is a complicated procedure, involving many steps and decisions. This paper tracks the document handling process that was in effect as of 1 September 1985, and comments on areas which could be improved.
