

Eileen Gray Letoile Mer Corbusier

Eileen Gray ; L'étoile de mer ; Le Corbusier Claude Prelorenzo 2013-11-18 At Cap Martin on the French Riviera, there is a fascinating place for anyone interested in art, design and architecture, a heritage site fashioned by three totally different personalities - Eileen Gray, Thomas Rebutato and Le Corbusier - now inextricably linked to one another by history. In 1927 the Irish furniture designer Eileen Gray, at the dawn of a new architectural home, bought a plot of land on which, with Jean Badovici, she was to build her holiday home, enigmatically called "E-1027". Twenty years later a plumber from Nice, Thomas Rebutato by name, came to live on the site next to E-1027 and opened a modest snack bar called the Etoile de Mer. One of his first customers was a certain Le Corbusier, a friend of Jean Badovici's. The famous architect soon became a regular at the restaurant - he would even paint a mural on one of its outside walls. In 1952 he built his "Cabanon" right next door to the restaurant. This wooden cabin was to be his holiday home until he died. This book, in a series of enthralling and richly illustrated articles, explores these brilliant intellectual achievements, and the human stories behind them, which have culminated in an outstanding heritage site on the shores of the Mediterranean.

Eileen Gray Peter Adam 1987 Eileen Gray started her career as a lacquer artist in Paris creating new furniture and living accessories with striking colors and understated shapes. Her Bibendum chair and E-1027 table today are familiar icons across the world; the ship-shaped home she designed and built on a cliff near Monaco was hailed as a triumph of deluxe modern living; her Dragon chair fetched $28 million at a YSL sale. Her archives bombed during World War II, she was largely forgotten when one-time peers like Le Corbusier were lionized as visionaries. Rediscovered in 1960, she is today a celebrated pioneer of modern design.

The Routledge Companion to Women in Architecture Anna Sokolina 2021-06-28 The Routledge Companion to Women in Architecture illuminates the names of pioneering women who over time continue to foster, shape, and build cultural, spiritual, and physical environments in diverse regions around the globe. It uncovers the remarkable evolution of women's leadership, professional perspectives, craftsmanship, and scholarship in architecture from the preindustrial age to the present. The book is organized chronologically in five parts, outlining the stages of women's expanding engagement, leadership, and contributions to architecture through the centuries. It contains twenty-nine chapters written by thirty-three recognized scholars committed to probing broader topographies across time and place and presenting portraits of practicing architects, leaders, teachers, writers, critics, and other kinds of professionals in the built environment. The intertwined research sets out debates, questions, and projects around women in architecture, stimulates broader studies and discussions in emerging areas, and becomes a catalyst for academic programs and future publications on the subject. The novelty of this volume is in presenting not only a collection of case studies but in broadening the discipline by advancing an incisive overview of the topic as a whole. It is an invaluable resource for architectural historians, academics, students, and professionals.

Le Corbusier Alexander Tzonis 2001 No other architect since Palladio has exercised such an immense influence as Le Corbusier. As with Einstein and Picasso, Le Corbusier made an impact that was felt within but also outside his special discipline. Through numerous buildings, urban projects, paintings, sculptures, drawings, and publications, he succeeded to develop a unique poetics of "machine" and "metaphor," revolutionizing the way people see, use, and make architecture. More than a modern architect, Le Corbusier was the "architect" of "modern life." The present monograph discusses Le Corbusier's oeuvre in a concise global manner in relation to the revolutionary developments of the century in which it was born. It shows how Le Corbusier worked within the context of new philosophical ideas; the avant-garde culture; the social, economic, and political movements; and new technology, achieving more than a delicate balance-- a synthesis. But it demonstrates also that Le Corbusier was a creator who conceived, enticed, and shaped many of these developments. As well as being "the" architect of the twentieth century, Le Corbusier is a prototype of human "creativity." Birkhäuser Architectural Guide Bertrand Lemoine 2000 In the 20th century, France has proved astonishingly fertile ground for modern architecture. The architectural ideas of Modernism and the avant garde are firmly rooted here and dominate the French architectural landscape unlike in any other country. Her architects are acclaimed throughout the world. Paris, a center for international architecture, rightly forms the focus of this guidebook with more than 100 notable buildings. However, this guidebook also does justice to the entire country with more than 450 buildings from all regions. The buildings are documented with photographs, drawings and texts, providing a comprehensive and portable guide.

Eileen Gray, L'Etoile de mer, Le Corbusier Claude Prelorenzo 2013-03-07 Il existe, à la racine du Cap-Matin, un lieu singulier pour celui qui s'intéresse à l'art, au design et à l'architecture. Il fut façonné autour de trois personnalités aux parcours individuels distincts mais que l'Histoire a liées indéfectiblement : Eileen Gray, Thomas Rebutato et Le Corbusier. En 1927, la créatrice de mobilier irlandaise Eileen Gray, à l'aube d'une nouvelle pratique de l'architecture, y achète une parcelle de terrain où elle construira, avec Jean Badovici, sa maison de vacances dénommée "E-1027". Vingt ans plus tard, en 1949, Thomas Rebutato, artisan-plombier niçois, s'installe sur la parcelle de terrain qui jouxte la maison. Il y ouvre un modeste bar-restaurant à l'enseigne de L'Etoile de mer. L'un de ses premiers clients se nomme La Corbusier, un familier de Badovici. Très vite, le célèbre architecte devient un hôte attitré du restaurant - il peindra même un tableau mural sur l'une des façades. En 1952, il accole au bar-restaurant son "Cabanon" ; une construction en bois qui va lui servir de résidence de vacances jusqu'à sa mort. Cet ouvrage explore ces aventures humaines et intellectuelles à l'origine d'un site méditerranéen d'exception grâce à des articles passionnants et une riche iconographie.

Eileen Gray, L'Etoile de mer, Le Corbusier 2015-09-10 Monographie autour d'un lieu, situé à Cap-Martin, qui passionne les amateurs d'art, de design et d'architecture. La créatrice de mobilier irlandaise Eileen Gray y a construit une villa en 1927. En 1949, un bar-restaurant à l'enseigne de l'Etoile de mer est construit à côté de la villa. Il sera fréquenté par Le Corbusier qui, à son tour, construira un cabanon où il passera ses vacances.

The Other Modern Movement Kenneth Frampton 2022-01-25 A revealing new look at modernist architecture, emphasizing its diversity, complexity, and broad inventiveness Usually associated with Mies and Le Corbusier, the Modern Movement was instrumental in advancing new technologies of construction in architecture, including the use of glass, steel, and reinforced concrete. Renowned historian Kenneth Frampton offers a bold look at this crucial period, focusing on architects less commonly associated with the movement in order to reveal the breadth and complexity of architectural modernism. The Other Modern Movement profiles nineteen architects, each of whom consciously contributed to the evolution of a new architectural typology through a key work realized between 1922 and 1962. Frampton's account offers new insights into iconic buildings like Eileen Gray's E-1027 House in France and Richard Neutra's Kaufmann House in Palm Springs, California, as well as lesser-known works such as Antonin Raymond's Tokyo Golf Club and Alejandro de la Sota's Maravillas School Gymnasium in Madrid. Foregrounding the ways that these diverse projects employed progressive models, advanced new methods in construction techniques, and displayed a new sociocultural awareness, Frampton shines a light on the rich legacy of the Modern Movement and the enduring potential of the unfinished modernist project.
