Who's the New Kid in Chemistry? John D. Butler 2013-12-12 Who's the New Kid in Chemistry? offers an unprecedented look at student engagement and teacher best practices through the eyes of an educational researcher enrolled as a public high school student. Over the course of seventy-nine consecutive days, John D. Butler participates in and observes Rhode Island 2013 Teacher of the Year Jessica

M. Waters's high school chemistry class, documenting his experiences as they unfold. Who's the New Kid in Chemistry? is a compelling example of what can be accomplished when an educational researcher and teacher collaborate in the classroom. This work includes a discussion on flexible homework assignments, data-driven instruction, and thirty teacher best practices. This book is an invaluable resource for teachers across all content areas, masters and doctoral research method classes, and future Teachers of the Year.

Expanding the Reach of Evidence-Based Psychological Interventions for Mental Health: Innovation, Access, and Equity
Tamara Melnik 2026-03-13 Evidence-Based Psychological Practice (EBPP) is a global priority for improving mental health care. While Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT) remains one of the most rigorously evaluated approaches—demonstrating strong efficacy across conditions like depression, anxiety, PTSD, and OCD—other empirically supported interventions such as Systemic Family Therapy, Interpersonal Therapy, and mindfulness-based approaches have gained prominence across diverse populations and clinical settings. The expansion of evidence-based practices is strongly supported by international organizations such as the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) and the Cochrane Collaboration, which provide transparent, rigorous evaluations of psychological interventions using frameworks such as GRADE. However, the global impact of these interventions is still limited by barriers to dissemination, training, cultural adaptation, and implementation—particularly in low-resource or underserved settings. This Research Topic seeks to gather cutting-edge research, systematic syntheses, and practice-based insights that address how evidence-based psychological interventions can be improved, scaled, and sustained. We welcome contributions that reflect methodological rigor and innovation, including randomized controlled trials (RCTs), meta-analyses, Cochrane-style reviews, and implementation studies aligned with NICE or GRADE standards. This Research Topic welcomes submissions addressing (but not limited to): - Theoretical and empirical advances in CBT, ACT, DBT, IPT, SFT and mindfulness-based approaches - High-quality systematic reviews and meta-analyses of efficacy, effectiveness, and safety of psychological interventions - Digital mental health innovations (e.g., telepsychology, mobile interventions) - Culturally adapted and equity-focused approaches for diverse populations. - Implementation strategies, training models, and scalability solutions in real-world practice -

Qualitative and mixed-methods studies exploring user experience, feasibility, and acceptability. The goal of this Research Topic is to foster international and interdisciplinary collaboration that informs both practice and policy. We aim to bridge the gap between high-quality evidence and clinical application, expanding access to effective, evidence-based psychological care worldwide. This collection will be of interest to clinicians, researchers, policymakers, and educators who are committed to advancing mental health through rigorous and inclusive psychological science.
