Flexible Pacing for Able Learners Neil Daniel 1988 The monograph describes the application of flexible pacing as a means of meeting the educational needs of gifted students in schools throughout the country. Flexible pacing is defined as placing students at an appropriate instructional level and allowing them to move forward in the curriculum as they master content and skills. Flexible pacing is achieved by such methods as continuous progress, compacted course, advanced level courses, grade skipping, early entrance, concurrent or dual enrollment, and credit by examination. An introductory chapter looks at the historical and theoretical context of flexible pacing and gives a brief explanation of the canvassing and survey methods used to obtain data. The next two chapters describe flexible pacing programs in 8 elementary and 11 secondary schools. Chapter 5 looks at district-wide programs for all students or all gifted students and finds six such school systems. The next chapter examines cooperative programs between schools, colleges, or other educational institutions. The seventh chapter discusses selected features of flexible pacing including school policy, strategies of implementation, staff selection/development, and record keeping. A staff development program to prepare teachers for flexible pacing in mathematics is described in the eighth chapter, contributed by Kathleen Martin. The concluding chapter identifies principles of implementation including capitalizing on what is available, initiating a program gradually, and winning support. The survey form and a sample program description are appended. Vidergor 2015-07-21 This book is a comprehensive study and guide for the classroom teacher, the gifted program coordinator, and the graduate student, who are challenged daily to provide for individual children who differ markedly but come under the umbrella of giftedness. It serves as a wellspring that derives from theory while it offers practical application of theoretical construct in a wide variety of international settings from leaders in the field who demonstrate implementation of proven and field-tested techniques and alternative scenarios to accommodate every classroom situation. Contributors are internationally recognized experts who have come together to provide a sound, reliable source for teachers of the gifted that will be utilized time and time again by practitioners and researchers alike. Among internationally renowned scholars are: Joyce Van Tassel-Baska, Susan Johnsen, June Maker, Belle Wallace, Linda Kreger-Silverman, Dorothy Sisk, Gillian Eriksson, Miraca Gross, Gilbert Clark, Enid Zimmerman, and Rachel McAnallen. curriculum aligned and serve as an excellent source of material for review and practice. Each guide breaks down the Common Core State Standards into teachable units, making it simple for educators and students to identify key learning concepts and how they align with the accompanying exercises and assessments. The practice questions and sample tests have detailed solutions that show problem-solving methods, highlight concepts that are likely to be tested, and point out potential sources of errors. The multiplatform SOLARO study solution also features additional learning tools in the complementary online version, and is designed to be used by students throughout the school year for reviewing and understanding course content, preparing for assessments, and, ultimately, achieving success. Developed and designed for seventh grade students, this study guide is aligned to Common Core's prescribed curriculum for students who aim to have completed High School Algebra I by the end of eighth grade. The guide includes sections such as Rational Numbers, Irrational Numbers, Radical and Integer Exponents, Equivalent Relationships, Linear Relationships, Random Sampling, and Congruence and Similarity.

New Physical Ideas Are Here Needed:

Revolutionizing Education Art Bardige 2007-04-23 How can we meet the increasing demands on American education for more content, greater complexity, and much higher levels of student success? How can we make every student a more effective learner? How can we help every teacher support learning more productively? How can we create schools that enable each and every child to achieve the education to which he or she aspires? We can with a new technology of education - a technology focused on student practice and conceptual visualization. Fortunately, this new technology is now at hand, and it can enable us to revolutionize education. Please join me in an exploration of these new physical ideas that are here, so desperately, needed. Art Bardige Education of the Gifted and Talented Gary A. Davis 1994

Traditional Math: An effective strategy that teachers feel guilty using Barry Garelick 2022-11-04 "Despite experiencing our teaching in different times, we are both oriented to traditional math teaching. It wasn't because we were both taught that way, as some may believe, but because that method worked for us and we have seen it work for our students. It is efficient, effective, non-confusing and helped our students develop mathematical reasoning, understanding, and confidence. Most importantly it helped them to be successful." So begins the book on traditional math, which provides a glimpse of what explicit instruction looks like in the classroom for grades K through 8. Barry Garelick and J.R. Wilson are retired math teachers who describe the methods of traditionally taught math that they used in their teaching. Their descriptions serve two purposes: 1) It provides assurance to teachers who may already practice these methods that they are not alone, and 2) For others, it may provide some new ideas.

Teaching with Technology Priscilla Norton 2003 The distinctive characteristic of TEACHING WITH TECHNOLOGY, Second Edition is its clear correlation between theory and practice. This text focuses on ways to use technology to foster learning in K-12 classrooms, instead of presenting the mechanics of computer operation. Norton and Wiburg's chapters are not based on computer applications; they are based instead on how technology can support student acquisition of literacy, content knowledge, problem-solving, participating in communities, and student utilization of information and systems of assessment.
