Educational Measurement Linda L. Cook 2025-12-15 The fifth edition of Educational Measurement represents the first version of this volume produced solely by the National Council on Measurement in Education (NCME). This volume, like the previous four editions, provides cutting edge research and guidance on all major topics in the field of measurement science, with chapters written by acknowledged experts in their respective fields. Edited by Linda L. Cook and Mary J. Pitoniak, this edition contains 21 chapters separated into four parts. Part I provides a framing chapter for the volume, as well as chapters on the history of educational measurement and the sociocultural context of educational assessment. Part II addresses the foundational topics of validity and validation; reliability; and fairness theory and concepts. Part III includes new theories and technical advances in topics such as designing and developing assessments; test administration and scoring; technology-based assessment; modeling educational assessment data; scaling, equating and linking; standard setting; score reporting; and fairness through accessibility for all test takers and specific groups. Part IV includes chapters on assessment to inform teaching and learning; test-based accountability in K–12 education; assessment for higher education; licensing and certification assessment; assessment of interpersonal and intrapersonal skills; and large-scale assessments in international contexts. Part V provides an extensive discussion on the nature of measurement. This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license. It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations.

Addressing Environmental Challenges With AI, Robotics, and Augmented Reality Azrou, Mourade 2025-06-13 Addressing environmental challenges requires innovative, interdisciplinary solutions using technologies like artificial intelligence (AI), robotics, and augmented reality (AR). These advanced tools enhance monitoring and response to environmental changes while enabling proactive intervention strategies across ecosystems, industries, and communities. From AI-driven climate modeling and robotic reforestation to AR-enhanced environmental education and disaster response, these technologies reshape the understanding and protection of the natural world. Further research into issues like climate change, pollution, and biodiversity loss, may improve the integration of AI, robotics, and AR to offer a path toward sustainability. Addressing Environmental Challenges With AI, Robotics, and Augmented Reality explores the transformative role of emerging technologies in advancing sustainable development. It examines how innovations such as robotics, blockchain, AI, and augmented reality shape industries, addressing environmental challenges, and contributing to the achievement of the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). This book covers topics such as policymaking, smart cities, and electric vehicles, and is a useful resource for engineers, government officials, urban developers, academicians, researchers, and environmental scientists.

Handbook of Research in the Social Foundations of Education Steven Tozer 2011-07-05 This groundbreaking volume helps readers understand the history, evolution, and significance of this wide-ranging, often misunderstood, and increasingly important field of study.

Olde Penn 1919

Handbook of Research in Education Finance and Policy Helen F. Ladd 2014-12-17 Sponsored by the Association for Education Finance and Policy (AEFP), the second edition of this groundbreaking handbook assembles in one place the existing research-based knowledge in education finance and policy, with particular attention to elementary and secondary education. Chapters from the first edition have been fully updated and revised to reflect current developments, new policies, and recent research. With new chapters on teacher evaluation, alternatives to traditional public schooling, and cost-benefit analysis, this volume provides a readily available current resource for anyone involved in education finance and policy. The Handbook of Research in Education Finance and Policy traces the evolution of the field from its initial focus on school inputs and revenue sources used to finance these inputs, to a focus on educational outcomes and the larger policies used to achieve them. Chapters show how decision making in school finance inevitably interacts with decisions about governance, accountability, equity, privatization, and other areas of education policy. Because a full understanding of important contemporary issues requires inputs from a variety of perspectives, the Handbook draws on contributors from a number of disciplines. Although many of the chapters cover complex, state-of-the-art empirical research, the authors explain key concepts in language that non-specialists can understand. This comprehensive, balanced, and accessible resource provides a wealth of factual information, data, and wisdom to help educators improve the quality of education in the United States.

Participatory Evaluation for Special Education and Rehabilitation Darrell R. Lewis 2000 Lewis and Johnson lay out a clear nine-step method for identifying and weighting the importance of disparate goals and outcomes. These consensus-building evaluation techniques are well suited for administrators in the field of disabilities.
