Fatal Army Air Forces Aviation Accidents in the United States, 1941-1945: July 1943-July 1944 Anthony J. Mireles 2006

INTRODUCTION TO THE KNOWLEDGE OF WOOD The purpose of this book is to describe a set of concepts and data, enabling the reader to get started on wood, beginning with formation of the tree, as the natural fabric of this material, through the description of the felling in the forest, and the importance of these. Its conversion and treatments in sawmills its machining in derivatives and products for use in building and industry sectors. Not to mention the preservation and conservation treatments to be applied, depending on the desired functionality, as well as on the expected design and finishing. In addition, what we want to describe, in short, is the handling of the timber from the forest to their latest applications with the latest technology, as well as illustrate some processes and transformations, by drafting and providing photographic documentation, avoiding mathematical applications or formulas. The reader can find, for any particular case, other specialized bibliographies, which will introduce him in the specific study, enabling him to go more deeply into the wished knowledge.

Fatal Army Air Forces Aviation Accidents in the United States,

1941-1945 Anthony J. Mireles 2006-05-23 During World War II, the air over the continental United States was a virtual third front. The little-known statistics are alarming: the Army Air Forces lost more than 4,500 aircraft in combat against Japanese army and naval air forces in the war. During the same time, the AAF lost more than 7,100 aircraft in the United States to accidents in training and transportation. Such accidents claimed the lives of more than 15,530 pilots, crewmembers and ground personnel, and the stories of their deaths are largely forgotten. This work chronicles the 6,350 known fatal AAF aircraft accidents that occurred in the continental United States from January 1941 through December 1945. Each crash summary, based on official records, provides details such as crash location and cause, the people involved and the type and number of aircraft. An aircraft serial number index, a record of AAF aircraft still listed as missing, crash statistics and a directory of AAF stations in the United States are included.
