Paviland Cave and the 'Red Lady' Stephen Aldhouse-Green 2000 The 'Red Lady of Paviland' has been the enigmatic heroine of Early Man in Britain since the discovery of human remains impregnated with ochre were found within the Paviland Cave in the Gower Peninsular in 1823. But was she a lady, and what were the circumstances of her burial? This book examines the evidence again with the benefit of modern techniques and it provides a definitive report on more recent investigations at the site carried out in 1997. The twelve chapters include a description of the site and its deposits, dating techniques, faunal remains, human remains, DNA, geology, lithics, ivory, bone and shell and analysis of the ochre. Depending on your career options, the skeletal system can be a very crucial part of daily responsibilities at work. For example, one that studied sports or physical therapy will have to know everything about the body and its internal mechanisms in order to determine the best course of action in the case of injuries of any kind or accidents. It is not just doctors that need to know such things and in an ever increasing world of initiative and capitalism self-education can prove very helpful in moving on to new career options or simply knowing what to do in an emergency situation.
