Mentoring the Relationship Between Cooperating Primary School Teachers and Teacher Trainees During Teaching Practice Mageto Charles

2017-10-24 Master's Thesis from the year 2015 in the subject Didactics - Common Didactics, Educational Objectives, Methods, grade: A, Moi University (Main campus), course: Education curriculum, language: English, abstract: Cooperating teachers provide the guidance sought by teacher trainees when they are away from college in the practicing schools and in the absence of the college tutors. This study sought to establish the extent to which this mentorship role is played by analyzing the mentoring relationship between cooperating primary school teachers and teacher trainees during teaching practice. The objectives of the study were to find out how the cooperating primary school teachers mentored the teacher trainees on: schemes of work and lesson plans; selection and application of instructional methods; lesson presentation and on professional ethics. The theoretical frame work used was based on developmental supervision theory by Glickman (2003). The study adopted a descriptive survey research design. It targeted cooperating teachers from 26 public primary schools from Kakamega and Vihiga Counties in Western Kenya and the student teacher trainees of Eregi and Kaimosi Teachers College who had undertaken teaching practice in the targeted primary schools. Two cooperating teachers who had handled teacher trainees during teaching practice for at least one year were selected from the schools through simple random sampling. For teacher trainees, focus was on approximately 1000 second year students who had done at least two teaching practice sessions. The teacher trainees were stratified into male and female from which 30% were selected from each gender through simple random sampling method. Questionnaires and interview schedules were used as data collecting instruments. The data collected was analyzed both quantitatively and qualitatively. Frequency tables were used to present the quantitative data, while qualitatively data was thematically analyzed as per the objectives. The analysis revealed that, majority of the cooperating teachers rarely did assist teacher trainees in preparation of schemes of work and lesson plans, selection and application of instructional methods and lesson presentation. On professional ethics, it established that, majority of the cooperating teachers often guided teacher trainees in the maintenance of discipline in class. Consequently, the study recommended that, cooperating teachers should check the trainees' lesson preparation to confirm that, the topics allocated to them are effectively taught; that provision be made for both to regularly discuss the instructional methods before lesson presentation.

Identifying the Solution Potential of Social Media to Address Teacher Challenges Associated with Competency-Based Curriculum Implementation in Kenya Christina Sang 2025

Kenya's ongoing education reform faces challenges due to persistent teacher shortages. Teachers across Kenya are experiencing burnout due to large workloads, difficult teacher to student ratios, and preparing themselves for the switch to a competency-based curriculum. This paper examines the opportunity for Kenyan teachers to utilize social media as a coping mechanism for stress and burnout due to its ability to foster community and promote professional development. A survey with ninety-five responses from Kenyan teachers gathered information about teachers' exposure to social media, usage of social media, and criteria for determining the quality of content posted onto social media. Teachers reported that they commonly use social media daily, with many using social media with the intent of gaining access to more resources. Most teachers were found to be familiar with WhatsApp, with interest in using social media to gain access to training, certificates, and workshops, and curriculum development resources like lesson plans and project ideas. Primary credibility criteria for Kenyan teachers included the qualifications of the teacher posting the resources and how recent the material was made or posted. This work affirms that social media has the potential to benefit Kenyan teachers experiencing challenges of burnout imparted on them by the shift to a competency-based curriculum.

A Sourcebook of HIV/AIDS Prevention Programs Alexandria Valerio 2008 This Sourcebook aims to support efforts by countries to strengthen the role of the education sector in the prevention of HIV/AIDS. It was developed in response to numerous requests for a simple forum to help countries share their practical experiences of designing and implementing programs that are targeted at school-age children. The Sourcebook seeks to fulfill this role by providing concise summaries of programs, using a standard format that highlights the main elements of the programs and makes it easier to compare the programs with each other. A Sourcebook of HIV/AIDS Prevention Programs, 2nd Edition documents 13 education based HIV/AIDS prevention programs targeting children and youth from 7 sub-Saharan African countries. It is sponsored by UNAIDS, UNICEF, UNESCO, UNFPA, DFID, USAID, Ireland Aid and the World Bank. The Sourcebook represents the work of many contributors, and was developed by the Partnership for Child Development with the World Bank.

Creating Dynamic Space in Higher Education: Modern Shifts in Policy, Competencies, and Governance Areba, George Ngwacho 2024-11-22 The 21st century has brought transformative changes to higher education, reshaping how institutions approach research, teaching, and learning. Shifts in policies, competencies, and the integration of technology have redefined the landscape which has pushed higher education to adapt to new demands. With increasing globalization and digitization, universities and colleges face challenges in aligning their structures with the needs of a rapidly evolving labor market and society. Creating Dynamic Space in Higher Education: Modern Shifts in Policy, Competencies, and Governance examines the critical shifts reshaping higher education, including governance changes, digital transformation, globalization, and evolving instructional practices. With contributions from field experts, this volume offers practical strategies, case studies, and insights on addressing financial challenges, adapting roles, and developing competencies for the future workforce. This book is ideal for education managers, instructors, policymakers, and researchers seeking to navigate these changes and optimize their institutions for the future.
