Theory and Practice in Educational Administration William George Walker 1970
Optimization Models Using Fuzzy Sets and Possibility Theory J. Kacprzyk 2013-11-11
Optimization is of central concern to a number of disciplines. Operations Research and Decision Theory are often considered to be identical with optimization. But also in other areas such as engineering design, regional policy, logistics and many others, the search for optimal solutions is one of the prime goals. The methods and models which have been used over the last decades in these areas have primarily been "hard" or "crisp", i. e. the solutions were considered to be either feasible or unfeasible, either above a certain aspiration level or below. This dichotomous structure of methods very often forced the modeller to approximate real problem situations of the more-or-less type by yes-or-no-type models, the solutions of which might turn out not to be the solutions to the real problems. This is particularly true if the problem under consideration includes vaguely defined relationships, human evaluations, uncertainty due to inconsistent or incomplete evidence, if natural language has to be modelled or if state variables can only be described approximately. Until recently, everything which was not known with certainty, i. e. which was not known to be either true or false or which was not known to either happen with certainty or to be impossible to occur, was modelled by means of probabilities. This holds in particular for uncertainties concerning the occurrence of events.

14th International Symposium on Theory and Practice in Transport Economics European Conference of Ministers of Transport 1999-03-26 Will the next century see the private sector become more involved in decisions regarding the construction and funding of infrastructure? Which technologies will dominate the transport market? Where will new markets emerge? Will transport still have a social role to play? What safeguards will there be for the environment? Will there still be a role even for the authorities? The list of the questions that transport will pose in the next century is certainly both long and diverse, reflecting as it does the problems now confronting the sector. The aim of the 14th Symposium was to take an initial look at what the future might hold by means of 13 introductory reports -- drafted by rapporteurs from 11 different countries -- and a debate between leading experts in the transport field. This publication goes over the introductory reports and faithfully reflects the substance of the Symposium discussions. By considering the shape of things to come, this review defines the challenges awaiting all those concerned with transport and the solutions open to them.

Decision Control, Management, and Support in Adaptive and Complex Systems: Quantitative Models Pavlov, Yuri P.

2013-02-28 In order to ensure the criteria for monitoring and managing the various problems and design for decision control, a mathematical description of exact human knowledge is required for the management of adaptive and complex systems. Decision Control, Management, and Support in Adaptive and Complex Systems: Quantitative Models presents an application and demonstration of a new mathematical technique for descriptions of complex systems. This comprehensive collection contains scientific results in the field of contemporary approaches to adaptive decision making that is essential for researchers, scholars, and students alike.

Strategic Decision Making Niels G. Noorderhaven 1995

This work adopts a theoretical approach and focuses on strategic decision-making as a process. It describes decision-making as an activity performed by rational and biased individuals, and places an emphasis upon group dynamics and the organizational context.

Multi-Attribute Decision-Making: Bridging Theory and Practice Ashok Kumar Yadav

2026 This book offers a comprehensive, mathematically grounded introduction to multi-attribute decision-making (MADM) for undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral students, as well as researchers in engineering, management, economics, and biology. It bridges theory and practice, covering fundamental concepts, advanced methods, and MATLAB implementations.

The Theory and Practice of Local Governance and Economic Development

Mark Considine 2008-02-14

One of the key issues for the prosperity of our societies in a globalised economy is to connect public policies together to achieve maximum results. Policy-makers and practitioners in key public and private agencies need to learn how to collaborate, to create joint-decision processes, to evaluate the effects of new governance partnerships and to become more efficient in the use of engagement tools. This book develops a conceptual map for this new area of practice and provides leading cases from different OECD countries to help practitioners plan for this form of innovation.

Understanding Advanced Decision Making Hassan

Qudrat-Ullah 2025-06-09

In this insightful book, Hassan Qudrat-Ullah simplifies the complex process of making informed decisions in challenging situations. The book examines how to handle uncertainty, risk and change in both business and everyday life, providing practical tools and methods for how to gather and evaluate information, plan strategically and make confident choices when faced with an uncertain outcome.

Handbook of Work and Organizational Psychology

Pieter Johan Diederik Drenth

The introductory volume of the Handbook of Work and Organizational Psychology is concerned with definitional, historical and methodological fundamentals. It explores the nature of studies in work and organizational psychology; the role played by the professional psychologist; and the ways in which the discipline has developed within Europe. The editors attempt to characterize the domain of work and organizational psychology, and examine relations between this and other subdisciplines within psychology, as well as those disciplines outside psychology also concerned with work and organization.
