Study Guide and Workbook, an Interactive Approach for Starr and McMillan's Human Biology, Third Edition Jane B. Taylor 1999

Asks the student to write all answers in this study guide/workbook. This workbook is interactive because it requires students to do things instead of just read more material. All questions are arranged by chapter modules so students may skip unassigned material. Each module in the study guide refers to the page numbers of the corresponding module in the text. There is a wide variety of questions: multiple-choice questions; tables to be filled in; art to be labeled; true/false questions requiring students to write the correct answer if the statement is false; thought-provoking conceptual questions; boldfaced terms requiring a written definition; list of objectives in fill-in-the-blank format; and other types of questions.

selling text emphasizes the relationship between humans and other living things. Intended for an introductory course, this text provides students with a firm grasp of how their bodies function and how the human population can become more fully integrated into the biosphere. An Online Learning Center, tied directly to the text via icons, will direct students to activities or animations that gives a "visual example" of difficult processes as well as "Working Together" boxes to emphasize homeostasis.

Life on Earth Teresa Audesirk 1997 The book has been carefully written to integrate the necessary biological facts into a broader conceptual framework that stresses unifying themes and the ways in which an understanding of biology can enrich and enlighten day-to-day living.
